

Gettysburg College Will Get $145,000 Next Week From The Ford Foundation

Gettysburg College is among the six hundred and thirty privately-supported colleges and universities in the United States which will receive checks next week totaling $130,000,000 as The Ford Foundation's first payment under its program to help raise faculty salaries.

Gettysburg College is scheduled to receive a check for $145,000. Its total grant will be $263,900.

Mount St. Mary's College and St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, will receive $60,000 each.

Dickinson College, Carlisle, will receive $140,000; Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, $225,000; Bucknell University, Lewisburg, $295,000.

Half Of Grants

The $130,000,000 represents half the sum of two appropriations to be made by the Foundation. Those schools which will receive what is known as "Accomplishment Grants" will receive their second checks by next July 1.

Included in the endowment program, larger of the two programs, are all four-year, regionally-accredited, privately-supported colleges and universities which grant degrees in the liberal arts and sciences and bachelors' degrees in a number of allied professional fields. Under the second program, 126 of these institutions receive accomplishment grants as well.

Produce Annual Income

When the grants under the endowment program are fully paid, each institution will have received a sum approximately equal to its undergraduate instructional costs for the 1954-55 academic year. This sum is to be added to the institution's endowment fund and is expected to produce an annual income of about 4 per cent. Under terms of the endowment program, the income must be applied in full to increase of faculty salaries. After 10 years, however, the principal sum may be used for either salary support or any other

FARMERS WILL SIGN SOIL BANK PAPERS BY 20TH

County farmers will begin signing contracts at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, York St., under the Soil Bank plan recently authorized by Congress.

Those eligible to take advantage of the Soil Bank program are the approximately 2,500 farmers who received 1956 corn or wheat allotments. Glenn Miller, office manager for the local ASC office, said today.

Most of those who can take advantage of the Soil Bank payments will be farmers who raise corn, Miller said. Farmers who may have underplanted their base allotment for corn, or farmers who will plow under corn can qualify. Wheat farmers who because of bad weather were unable to plant part of their wheat can qualify, that acreage for Soil Bank payments as well.

Must Sign By July 20

Farmers who were unable to plant wheat last fall can receive a $4 per acre payment to help them make up for the loss suffered from the wet weather.

Corn farmers who can qualify for the contracts will receive $1 per bushel payments for the corn they didn't plant—or plowed under—with the payment based on an estimate of production by the farmers per acre.

All contracts must be signed by July 20, and a farmer cannot receive payment for areas set aside as a soil bank on his farm unless he has signed a contract by that time.

Has Penalty Clause

Miller pointed out that the area set aside as the soil bank need not necessarily be the exact acres where corn was not planted, or was plowed under, but the land set aside must be comparable to the average for the farm, and thus cannot be waste or swampy land on which nothing normally grows.

A penalty clause is contained in the provisions for the soil bank. A farmer who would sign a contract and receive payment, and was found

Says General Lee Fought His Worst Battle At Gettysburg

How superb maneuvering of Union troops by General George Gordon Meade turned the battle here into a "Fredericksburg in reverse" is told in this final installment of a series of three articles by Maj. Gen. E. J. Stackpole, Harrisburg, on The Battle of Gettysburg.

By MAJ. GEN. E. J. STACKPOLE

Hancock decided that Gettysburg was the place to fight, and Meade ordered all his other corps to march rapidly to the field, while he himself moved his headquarters forward late that night from Taneytown to a small farm building just off the Taneytown Road a few hundred yards southeast of Cemetery Hill and immediately in rear of the "high water mark." The night was spent by the Union Army in re-grouping and in occupying the fish hook, from Culp's Hill in a curving line to Cemetery Hill, and then due south, paralleling the Emmitsburg Road, to the Round Tops.

ALMOST NORMAL JUNE WEATHER; 14 DAYS OF RAIN

After the coldest May in nearly 40 years, Gettysburg weather got back to normal this month with the total rainfall totals and temperatures very close to the mythical "normal."

Average temperatures for the month were only 0.3 degrees above normal for June in Gettysburg and the rainfall total was 0.13 inches above what it should be for normal showers this month.

Temperatures varied widely this month. The range was from a low of 49 degrees to a high of 97 and there were nine days this month with maximum readings of 90 degrees or above. The month's daily average high reading was 81.9 degrees and the average daily low was 60.16 degrees for a monthly average of 70.53 degrees as compared with a June "normal" figure of 70.4 degrees.

There were measurable amounts of rain on 14 days this month and the showers, frequently accompanied by electrical storms, totaled 3.89 inches. Normal for June here is 3.76 inches.

June's rains brought the six-month accumulation of rainfall here to 19.9 inches — and that also is very close to the normal for the first half of the year. The total is only 0.74 inches short of being what more than a half century of weather records show the total should be at the end of June.

Both April and May had been short of rain so that the slight surplus in June helped bring the total closer to the long-term average. June's coldest day was the 5th and the hottest was June 13.

CONEWAGO JT. SCHOOL SYSTEM CAN'T DISBAND

The Conewago Joint School system made another unsuccessful attempt to disband Friday evening at a meeting of the joint boards at East Berlin High School.

The session lasted until 11:30 o'clock Friday night but in the final vote the four East Berlin directors present voted against dissolution.

Directors present at the meeting said the East Berlin members held that they would not vote in favor of dissolution until after an agreement had been reached with the North Adams joint school system boards to establish a new joint system which would include all of North Adams and Reading, Conewago Independent and East Berlin districts from Conewago Jointure.

Plans Court Action

Voting in favor of dissolution of Conewago jointure Friday night were Abbotstown, which is scheduled to become part of the Lower Adams jointure if it can secure its release from Conewago joint system; Paradise Twp., York County, which will join with other York County districts, and the one member of Conewago Independent who was present when the vote was taken.

Carroll Leppo, Dover R. 2, president of the Paradise Twp. board and president of the Conewago joint school board, told the directors he planned to see the Paradise Twp. attorney at York today to have an action started in Adams County court by which Paradise would seek release from its commitments to the Conewago Joint system.

East Berlin directors said they hoped that an agreement can be reached Monday evening at a meeting in York Springs of the North Adams boards and three boards from Conewago jointure and indicated that they may be willing to vote for dissolution of Conewago jointure if they can reach an acceptable agreement at York Springs Monday.

Mamie Is Radiant And Happy

What a difference the day makes!

Three weeks ago Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower was pictured in a White House limousine, grieving and weary. She was enroute to the Walter Reed Hospital to be with her husband, the stricken President. Friday, the First Lady, radiant and happy, left the hospital to prepare for today's trip to the Eisenhower's Gettysburg farm. The President checked out of the hospital this morning and at 9:02 o'clock the motorcade left the White House bound for Gettysburg. Sunday the Eisenhowers will celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary. (AP Wirephoto)

Beaming President Leaves Hospital For Rest On Farm

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower walked smilingly out of Walter Reed Army Hospital today after a three-week stay and headed for his Gettysburg, Pa., farm to convalesce.

The President went by auto on the 85-mile drive. He plans to stay at the farm for at least two weeks.

The President was smiling as he stepped out of the hospital's east wing, where he has been a patient after undergoing a major abdominal operation on June 9. His customary ruddy complexion showed some pallor and it was evident he had lost some weight.

But he stepped firmly out of the hospital on the arm of Mrs. Eisenhower. He waved his brown felt hat for the throng of reporters, cameramen and hospital personnel gathered to see him leave.

In Good Spirits

He left the hospital at 8:58 a.m., almost half an hour later than originally scheduled. His doctors had said in advance, in their final medical bulletin from the hospital, that his morale and spirits were high.

They reported his weight at 163 pounds. He weighed 169 when he entered the hospital.

The President was in street clothes for the first time since he entered the hospital. He wore a light brown double-breasted, summer suit, brown hat and light grey striped tie.

Mrs. Eisenhower was attired in a grey suit and a white hat. She had a white orchid on her left shoulder.

The President left the hospital later than scheduled because of a big round of goodbyes to hospital personnel and military officers who have attended him during his stay.

Mrs. Eisenhower Is Happy

Mrs. Eisenhower was smiling and in obvious high spirits as she walked arm in arm with the President to the car.

The windows overlooking the east wing court of the hospital were filled with patients and hospital personnel watching the President's departure.

Across the tree-lined drive, the hospital lawn was crowded with orderlies, Army personnel and other patients out to wave goodbye.

There was no audible applause when the President stepped out of the doorway, though the crowd gasped and murmured.

The President seemed somewhat taken aback by the size of the crowd. He opened his mouth once or twice as if to whistle in amazement.

Mrs. Eisenhower occasionally cast a pleased, proud look at her husband.

Eisenhower said "Hi" to two or three persons nearest him as he got into the limousine.

A flurry of questions from newsmen clustered about the door went unanswered as the car pulled out of the spacious hospital grounds at 9:02 a.m. It was trailed by a caravan of Secret Service men, newsmen and photographers.

Bury Mrs. Weaver This Afternoon

Weaver, Hunterstown, who died Wednesday morning at the Snyder Nursing Home, Lincolnway West, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Bender Funeral Home with the Rev. Clyde R. ## The Gettysburg Times Adopts "Little Merchant Plan"

Starting Monday, July 2, delivery of The Gettysburg Times to subscribers in Gettysburg and other county communities goes under the "Little Merchant Plan."

Under this new plan, Times carrier boys become little businessmen in their own right. They will purchase The Gettysburg Times at wholesale rates and sell it to their subscribers at the rate of 25 cents per week.

The carriers will collect from their subscribers either Friday evening or Saturday morning. Thus the antiquated method of office-control and collection is eliminated. The Times is one of less than a score of newspapers in the county which has held to the office-control circulation system.

While vastly increased cost of newsprint, ink and all other factors involved in the production and distribution of newspapers has confronted The Gettysburg Times, as it has all other publications, this marks the first change in price in nearly ten years and the first major change in distribution in the history of The Times.

The income of the carriers, under the new plan, will be considerably increased. The plan will provide better delivery service and a personal relationship between the carrier and the subscriber. The new wholesale rate at which the carriers will purchase their newspapers from The Times is about the average rate The Times now receives under its present distribution system. The new plan eliminates considerable costs in accounting and control of more than 7,000 subscriber accounts.

All "paid-in-advance" subscriptions will be honored at their present rate until expiration dates.

BUSINESS AREA TRAFFIC SURVEY MADE THIS WEEK

A traffic survey, called "cordon survey" of the downtown section of Gettysburg, has been completed by a survey crew under the direction of Richard S. Hackman, research engineer for the Pennsylvania Department of Highways.

A crew, comprising 31 official counters and four relievers, were posted at street and alley intersections in a radius surrounding the center of town, one block beyond the metered area and embracing the parking lot at the Acme store, a few beyond the specified boundary.

The counters counted all vehicles entering and leaving the area during a ten-hour period, including the noon hour, from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m.

The survey crews are also measuring all public and private parking lots in the borough, length of street blocks and other areas to make up a traffic picture covering the entire borough.

Show Weekday Average

Turning counts are also being made at 44 intersections to secure what is called "traffic flow volumes." The survey, when completed, will show the average weekday traffic flow during June, July and August.

Next week Hackman said survey crews will begin interviewing motorists who park within the borough. They will be asked three questions: Where are you going? Where did you come from? Why are you traveling?

At 15 external stations, from radio station WGOT on the North, just beyond the guide station on the south, and the borough boundary lines on the east and west, a survey of traffic flow onto the Battlefield is being made.

The survey is expected to be completed the last week in August.

The fitted bodice was fashioned in a strapless gown with a lace jacket and the fitted sleeves came to points over the wrists. The full bouffant skirt was worn over a hoop. ## HEAVILY ARMED TROOPS GUARD POZNAN TODAY

BERLIN (AP) — Travelers said today scattered fighting between armed workers and Polish troops is continuing in Poznan, the Polish industrial city torn by bloody anti-Communist rioting.

Three Western businessmen who arrived in Berlin from Poznan this morning said rifle and machine gun fire and occasional bursts from antiaircraft guns sounded throughout the city during the night.

By REINHOLD ENSZ

BERLIN (AP) — Heavily armed troops backed by tanks and jet planes were reported deployed throughout the Polish city of Poznan today in the wake of a bloody uprising by thousands of workers. Red Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz promised the rebellious workers his regime will correct "mistakes" and raise living standards. He also warned of merciless reprisals for any further move against his government.

But as late as last night there still was sporadic gunfire in Poznan, according to reports from reliable Western sources reaching Berlin.

Keep Tight Grip

Despite Warsaw radio claims that the rebellion has been crushed and Poznan has returned to normal, ground troops and rooftop hopping jet planes were said to be deployed throughout Poznan, keeping a tight grip on the city. They are under command of Soviet officers.

Some reports filtering out of Poland said many Poznan workers still have the arms they used against police and troops in Thursday's outbreak. Some armed with rifles and machine guns reportedly fought off security forces attacking the battered city radio station yesterday, long after official announcement that the uprising had been suppressed.

Warsaw radio announced 38 persons had been killed and at least 270 wounded in fighting between about 30,000 rioting workers and security forces Thursday.

Say 100 Casualties

But Western businessmen who were attending the Poznan International Trade Fair when the rebellion flared said they thought the broadcast minimized the casualties. Some estimated the number of dead at 100 or more.

Cyrankiewicz acknowledged in a broadcast to the nation that there was "dissatisfaction" among the workers. He said living conditions were bad for some and this was the result of "mistakes" made by authorities which will be corrected.

The Premier said the Poznan outbreak would not deflect his government from continuing "to democratize our way of life" — meaning it would go on with the relaxing of stern controls which in Poland has accompanied the anti-Stalin drive in Russia.

Blames "Agents"

But he blamed the uprising on "imperialist agents" and declared "everyone who raises his hand against the people can be sure it will be hacked off in the interests of the working class."

Berlin was flooded with unconfirmed reports of anti-Communist unrest in other Polish cities and the Baltic states, Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia, telephone operators in Stockholm reported communication with the Baltic states had been cut.

Martial law and a curfew have been imposed on Poznan.

Communist rule book of world communism, published the text of the will which described Stalin as a rude, rough-mannered and capricious. In it Lenin said Stalin could not be entrusted with a post as responsible as that of secretary of the party.

NEGOTIATORS MEET TODAY IN FINAL EFFORT; STRIKE LOOMS

NEW YORK (AP) — Weary negotiators meet again today in one final effort to avert a nationwide steel strike at midnight.

Meanwhile, furnaces grew cold as mills braced for the threatened walkout by 850,000 steelworkers. Production slowed toward a halt in an industry that's basic to the nation's economy.

Representatives of the United Steelworkers of America and companies producing more than 90 percent of the nation's steel began talks more than a month ago to forge a new contract. The old one dies at midnight tonight.

USW "Really Hot"

The steel companies have insisted on a five-year agreement to succeed the present two-year pact. The union says it cannot bind the steelworkers to so long a contract. The company later cut its demands to four years and four months.

The steelworkers are "hot — really hot" against acceptance of the industry offer, union president David J. McDonald said yesterday.

The Eisenhower administration, meanwhile, took a hands-off attitude toward the negotiations for the moment. Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said last night:

"Representatives of labor and management in the steel industry are responsible, mature, experienced negotiators. I believe that they are well aware of their mutual responsibilities to the general public and to the employees and stockholders of the steel industry. I am sure they are now doing everything possible within the processes of free collective bargaining to avert a strike."

Mitchell said federal mediation services are "available to the parties if they wish them."

The union has asked for a "substantial" but unspecified wage increase over the present average pay of $2.46 an hour, double pay for Sunday, time and a half pay for Saturdays, a 52-week layoff pay plan, a company paid insurance program and other benefits.

Rejection By Industry

The companies offered a 7.3-cent hourly direct wage increase each year for five years, a 52-week layoff pay program, 4 percent premium pay for Sundays and various vacation, holiday and other benefits.

Last night top officers of the industry's Big Three—U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, and nine other major firms rejected an invitation to confer personally with McDonald.

They said "no useful purpose" could be served by changing negotiations procedures.

Delay Is Certain

McDonald replied: "The top management has turned down our invitation to meet with them. The responsibility is theirs."

Even if a strike were averted, it might be a month before steel operations return to normal. The banking of fires, now under way, takes about three days. Reheating takes much longer.

Industry sources said that production losses due to the cooling of the giant blast furnaces have already amounted to millions of dollars.

Wide Effects

A strike would find the nation with a reserve steel supply to take care of its needs for 30 to 60 days. There would be a critical shortage, however, in some fields. The oil industry, for instance, would feel the pinch immediately.

A strike would also halt most iron ore freighters on the Great Lakes and idle between 8,000 and 9,000 seamen.

A work stoppage in steel would be the fifth in the industry in 11 years.

Presbyterian Church Here Is 216 Years Old And Has Shared World's Spotlight With Town During Battle And When Lincoln And Ike Came

The Gettysburg Presbyterian Church, this community's "church of Presidents," is 216 years old but has packed the most remarkable incidents in its long history into the last 93 years.

By a series of unique coincidences, the Presbyterian Church has shared with Gettysburg each of the three major events that brought this community into the world's spotlight.

The Battle of Gettysburg, which changed Gettysburg from a small southern Pennsylvania college town into a national shrine, saw the Presbyterian Church serving as a hospital for wounded of both armies.

Lincoln And Ike

When Lincoln came to Gettysburg in November of 1863 to dedicate the National Cemetery, he stopped at the Presbyterian Church for a patriotic service in the company of Citizen Hero John Burns before leaving Gettysburg for Washington.

Last year when President and Mrs. Eisenhower made Gettysburg their home, they began attending services at the Presbyterian Church.

Now when the Eisenhowers are at the farm weekends and are expected to attend services in the local church, the second pew back of the tablet-marked "Lincoln Pew" is closed off with a white satin ribbon as the "Eisenhower Pew" and reserved for the Presidential party.

The history of the church, which celebrated its bicentennial in 1940, dates back to the early days of Presbyterianism in this country, a half century before the United States won its independence.

No Exact Date For Beginning

The church in Gettysburg and its twin, Great Conewago Presbyterian Church at Hunterstown can look back to their beginnings before the French and Indian War, when Marsh Creek was a frontier and when roving Indian parties were a menace to the pioneers. Probably the Scotch-Irish worshipped together in their homes from the time of their arrival in what is now Adams County about 1734.

The exact date of the organization of the Gettysburg Church, which was formed as the Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church, is unknown but first mention of it is in 1740 in the records of the Presbytery of Donegal (which was formed in 1732, the year George Washington was born) a generation before the American Revolution.

Mentioned In 1740

The Presbytery minutes contain an entry concerning the appointment of a Rev. Mr. Caven, the pastor of the Falling Spring Church, "to supply Great Conewago and Marsh Creek on the first sabbath of July, 1740."

The congregation evidently had been meeting in the homes of members until on the second Tuesday of May, 1742, Messrs. Samuel Thompson, William Howe, William Kain and Benjamin Chambers met at the home of Widow Jackson as a committee to select a location for a church building.

At the next meeting of Presbytery they reported that "the congregation agreed that there shall be two meeting houses, and the people of Marsh Creek are agreed that theirs shall be at a certain spring near Robert McPherson's," the present location of Black's graveyard between Lincolnton West and the Mummasburg Rd., about three miles from Gettysburg.

First Church Of Logs

There a small, low, plain log building with double-sashed windows was erected in 1747 and became known as the Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church. The date of that building is fixed only by an official record at Harrisburg 18 years later in which it is stated that Messrs. Hance Hamilton, Robert McPherson, Samuel Eddy and John Buchanan applied for a warrant for 100 acres of land in trust for the church which had erected their place of worship 18 years before.

The Rev. Joseph Tate preached acceptably to the congregation for an uncertain period and was extended a call to become the first pastor of Upper Marsh Creek and Great Conewago churches in April, 1748, but because certain neighboring ministers had raised charges relative to his orthodoxy, he refused the call preferring to go elsewhere although he was able to defend himself against the charge.

Lincoln left the service early to take his train back to Washington. The pew President and Mrs. Eisenhower occupy is the second one back of the Lincoln pew. The Lincoln pew appears today as it is above, but more comfortable seats have replaced the rest of the old pews.

A brother-in-law of the Rev. Mr. Tate, the Rev. Robert McMordie, is the first pastor of whom there is a definite record. He served from 1753 to 1761 and his body lies in Black's graveyard.

Stone Church Built

For 14 years following the McMordie pastorate, the congregation was without a pastor but was supplied by the Presbytery. One of the supplies was from Lower Marsh Creek Church, the Rev. Mr. Slemons, one of the early references to that congregation.

In 1776 a call was extended to the Rev. John Black who accepted and served for 19 years. During his ministry the old church was considered too small and inconvenient for the uses of the congregation and a stone church was erected a little to the north of the old structure after many subscription lists had been circulated and help sought from neighboring congregations. It was used first in 1780 and in the following year the church entertained for the first time a meeting of the Presbytery of Donegal. At that session a prominent young lady whose tongue had offended was publicly tried and admonished for her remarks.

It was also during Mr. Black's pastorate that the congregation was incorporated in 1787 and trustees' records are in existence from that date. The Rev. Mr. Black's salary at that time was 100 pounds per year. He was paid in wheat, corn, rye, hay, silver, copper, State money, Congress money, Maryland money and Commonwealth money.

St. church because the 20-year-old building was held to be unsafe.

From March of 1837 until some time in 1842, the congregation again enjoyed the hospitality of the Associated Reformed Church located where the United Brethren church now stands. In December 1840, a lot was purchased on High and S. Baltimore Sts. and this building committee was appointed: Dr. Watson, the pastor; Messrs. J. M. Stevenson, J. F. MacFarlane, John Houck, William McCurdy, Moses McClean, Joseph Bayly and David McCreary. They erected the present church edifice in 1842 with pews being moved into it from the abandoned building on N. Washington St.

Hospital During Battle

Dr. Watson resigned in 1849 and after a brief interval, the Rev. Robert Johnston was installed in January 1850, when this church and Great Conewago separated, each feeling able to support a minister. The Rev. Mr. Johnston's pastorate ended in 1855 with his resignation and the next year the Rev. George VanWyck was installed. A serious disturbance arose in the church and in 1859 the pastor along with the elders resigned. Presbytery met here in October of that year and held an election of elders.

The next pastor was the Rev. H. G. Finney. He was installed in 1861 and was pastor here during the Battle of Gettysburg. On the first day of the battle the church was converted into a hospital, as were many other public buildings in the town and some private homes, and continued in that use for about six weeks. Boards were placed across the backs of the pews on which the wounded were stretched in rows.

The church was abandoned as a hospital only after the tent hospital, Camp Letterman, was established east of town. Meanwhile the congregation had convened on the streets or wherever it could, a course followed also by other congregations of the town whose churches were filled with wounded. Hospital use so damaged the church furniture that it had to be renovated or replaced. The pews were cleaned and painted and other alterations made.

David Wills Was Elder

The Rev. Mr. Finney resigned for another charge the year after the battle and the Rev. D. T. Carnahan served as pastor for about two years. Then the Rev. Dr. Edsall Ferrier, professor of English at Gettysburg College, supplied the pulpit for two years and twice was offered the pastorate. During this period the Manse on Baltimore St. was purchased and the Rev. W. H. Hills became pastor in 1869 but resigned in 1872 and Dr. Ferrier again supplied the pulpit until the Rev. W. W. Campbell was called in December 1872. He resigned in 1875. David Wills, one of Gettysburg's outstanding citizens, became an elder of the church during that pastorate.

The church had 162 members when the Rev. John Kay Demarest, one of the best loved pastors in the history of the congregation, was installed in 1875 for a 17-year pastorate. In the first year of his service the erection of a Sunday School addition was proposed and the building was ready for occupancy in 1878. Many improvements were made to the church building during his pastorate. The interior was renovated and the terraces were placed at the front of the church. The old Manse property on Baltimore St. was sold and the present Manse was built on E. High St. on ground donated by David Houck. The Manse was known as the Houck Memorial. A pipe organ was bought in 1899, just a century after the church was incorporated. The Rev. Mr. Demarest died in the pastorate on May 1, 1892, after the congregation had several times rejected proffered resignations because of ill health.

The Rev. Hugh W. Gilchrist was installed August 24, 1893, and served for three years. In 1894 the United Presbyterian Church of Gettysburg united with this church and added 13 members thereby.

Redecorated And Remodeled

Dr. Gilchrist resigned in July 1896, because of ill health and the Rev. David Walker Woods succeeded him in 1896 when he began a 14-year pastorate. During his term a new pipe organ was installed, the interior of the church was redecorated and extensive improvements were made at the Manse. Because of impaired health he resigned in April 1911, but later served for many years as pastor of the Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church.

On July 3 of that year the Rev. Franklin E. Taylor became the new pastor although he was not formally installed until October 4. He served for nine years, including the World War I period when soldiers in camp here were welcomed to church activities. New pews were bought, hardwood floors laid and the vestibule at the front of the church was erected during the Taylor pastorate. In 1920 the Rev. Mr. Taylor resigned.

He was succeeded by the Rev. William Childs Robinson, the first of five young Princeton Theological Seminary graduates who served the church in succession here for more than two decades. He was installed May 11, 1921, and served for five years when he resigned to become a member of the Columbia Theological Seminary faculty at Decatur, Ga. Church membership grew to 410 in his pastorate.

New S. S. Building

The next pastor was the Rev. Edward H. Jones, installed in May 1927. Besides extensive remodeling and redecoration in the church building, a new Sunday School building was erected at a cost of $30,000. A building committee of 15 was named in January 1930, and the building was used for the first in February 1931. The Rev. Mr. Jones resigned in June of that year for a pastorate at State College, Pa., and on January 19, 1932, the Rev. Frederick Barnard Crane was installed. He served until January 31, 1938, when he became pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Hazleton where he serves now as pastor.

The church's bicentennial was celebrated with a historical pageant and a special week of services in 1940 during the pastorate of the Rev. Seth Cook Morrow who had been installed in July 1938. He served until early 1943 when he resigned to accept a call to Pottsville.

He was succeeded here by the Rev. Robert M. Hunt who was installed in 1943 and served until 1948, after returning from a leave of absence to serve for more than a year as a U.S. Navy chaplain during the latter part of World War II.

Facilities Cramped Now

The present pastor, the Rev. Clyde R. Brown, was installed in January 1949, as the congregation was completing the redecoration of the church sanctuary.

Now with Church School attendance averaging more than 200 weekly and with the sanctuary filled regularly, the Session has appointed a Strategy and Planning committee to make a thorough study and recommendations on ways of providing adequate space for the Church School and the congregation which is approaching 600 members, the largest figure in its history.

Find Bodies Of 2 Escaped Patients

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—Two escaped patients from the Allentown State Mental Hospital were found dead here Thursday night.

Katherine McGreehan, 51, who disappeared from the hospital late yesterday, was killed by a passenger train in the railroad yard near Union Station, four miles from the hospital. Police said Miss McGreehan apparently walked into the side of the Lehigh Valley train.

The body of John Kim, 36, was found by a 13-year-old boy in the canal along the Lehigh River. The youngster, Harold Masteller, was paddling a canoe when he saw the body.

Deputy Coroner Raymond Smith of Lehigh County said Kim's body was in the water for two days. He was discovered missing from the hospital Monday.

"WITHOUT THE MASTER"

I dread to think what would occur . . . if faith in God should cease . . . the world would be a sorry place . . . without a moment's peace . . . the heartaches that we know today . . . would multiply by ten . . . the tears of mankind would indeed . . . flood each and every gleam . . . the treasures such as faith and hope . . . would quickly die away . . . and grief would punctuate each breath . . . far more than words can say . . . the weeds of hate and greed would grow . . . to strange love and trust . . . and every ray of golden sun . . . would fade in dreary dust . . . all things would slowly perish . . . without the word of God . . . life would not be worth living . . . on scorched and barren sod . . . so pray to Him, have faith in Him . . . He is our greatest friend . . . without the Master of mankind . . . all righteousness would end.

TEN YEARS AGO

Begins Practice In Northumberland: Dr. John Deardorff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar L. Deardorff, Carlisle street, and whose wife and family live at 44 Chambersburg street, has begun the practice of medicine at Northumberland, Pa. He opened his office in Northumberland this week.

A graduate of Jefferson Medical school, he interned at the Williamsport hospital and then entered the U. S. Army.

His family will remain at their home on Chambersburg street for about six months until they can secure occupancy of a home in Northumberland.

Need Help In Local Campaign: This is an appeal to every resident of Gettysburg to cooperate to the fullest extent with Town Council in its current drive to rid the town of mosquitoes.

Borough employees inaugurated a mosquito elimination campaign on Saturday — a campaign that will cover the entire town. If householders fail to cooperate with borough officials the campaign will be fruitless.

Every householder and property owner is being asked to cut down all weeds and tall grass on their premises — clean out all debris in yards and alleys — make sure there are no containers lying about that will gather stagnant water. If you have property that you wish sprayed with the new insecticide, Lightning Mosquito Killer, which the borough is using, notify Burgess C. A. Heiges or Borough Engineer LeRoy Winebrenner and the work will be done for you without cost.

Moose Donate $500 To Vets Welfare Fund: Donations to the Welcome Home program for veterans from Adams county August 14 today reached $1,000 with a contribution of $500 from the local Moose lodge.

Charles Lawler, secretary of the lodge, turned over the check for $500 to finance committee co-chairman Sydney Poppa who in turn gave the amount to George M. Zerling, treasurer for the committee in charge of the event.

The donation was the second $500 check received by the committee with the Eagles giving the first $500 about a week ago.

Dr. C. N. Gitt Is Installed As Head Of Rotary: Dr. Chester N. Gitt, Baltimore street, was installed Monday evening as president of the Gettysburg Rotary club, succeeding James S. Cairns.

Milton Remmel New President of Lions Club: Milton R. Remmel was elected president of the Gettysburg Lions club at the weekly dinner meeting of the Lions Monday evening at Woodlawn park. Other officers elected were: First vice president, Mahlon P. Hartzell; second vice president, D. E. Hess; third vice president, Attorney Donald M. Swopes; secretary, Robert M. Smith, re-elected; treasurer, J. Herbert Welkert, re-elected; Lion tamer, S. F. "Pappy" Swopes; tall twister, Donald E. Myers; directors for two years, Clarence J. Waybright and Roy W. Wentz.

Requisite Of Good Farmer Is Good Wife: One of the main requisites to be a good farmer is to first obtain the right kind of wife. Dr. Kenneth Hood, extension economist from State college, told members of the Adams county Senior Extension club at a meeting Monday evening.

110 Countians Reported Lost On Army Files: The War Department announced today that 110 men who served in the Army and who gave Adams county as their home address lost their lives during the war. The Navy department has not released its casualty list which would also include the Marine Corps.

Today's Talk

SELF-RELIANCE

We don't read or hear much about Ralph Waldo Emerson these days, but he wrote one of the most inspiring essays ever written, entitled "Self-Reliance." It is an essay that every young person should read early in life, and then read again and again later, as I have. Here are a few thoughts from that inspiring essay:

"To believe your own thought, to believe that what is true for you in your private heart is true for all men — that is genius."

"Trust thyself: every heart vibrates to that inner string. Accept the place the divine Providence has found for you; the society of your contemporaries; the connection of events."

"My life is not an apology, but a life."

"It is easy in the world to live after the world's opinion; it is easy in solitude to live after our own; but the great man is he who in the midst of the crowd keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude."

"A foolish consistency is the hobgoblin of little minds, adored by little statesmen and philosophers and divines. To be great is to be misunderstood."

"Nothing can bring you peace but yourself. Nothing can bring you peace but the triumph of principles."

After you have read this great essay, then you should read the one on "Compensation," but every essay that Emerson wrote is as enriching to the mind and heart today as when written long ago. William Allen White once stated that this essay on "Self-Reliance" inspired his early life as nothing else. Untold multitudes can say as much, including myself.

THAT EXTRA DAY

When leap year comes, since time will vary,
They add one day to February.

To that there's neither rhyme nor reason,
It just extends the winter season.

And longer makes a month that's chilly,
Which seems to me is rather silly.

If every fourth year must be padded,
And one day to its sum be added,

You'd think, if rightly they'd observe it,
June is the month that should deserve it.

Cold February is the barest;
June's thirty days of all are rarest.

Speed up the time when winter closes
And give us one day more of roses.

BIG ROAD BILL

SIGNED BY IKE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Friday signed the 33-billion-dollar highway construction bill, setting in motion the government's biggest peacetime spending program.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty in announcing the signing said the President "was highly pleased."

The funds provided by the bill are designed to give the nation a 41,000-mile system of super-highways linking every state with fully modern, controlled access roads, mostly of four lanes or more.

But well before the new highways are built, motorists will feel the effect of new taxes to help pay for them. These take effect Sunday. The biggest money raiser is a one cent boost in the federal gasoline tax to three cents a gallon.

It probably will be the summer of 1958 before any appreciable mileage of the new highways is completed.

Coroner Saves His 2-Year-Old Daughter

PHILIPSBURG, N.J. (AP)—Warren County Coroner William P. Cavanaugh plunged into the water of a 12-ft. deep cistern Thursday night to rescue his 2-year-old daughter, Joann.

He then applied artificial respiration to the unconscious girl to save her from drowning. Cavanaugh was visiting James Holligan at nearby Carpentersville when he noticed Joann was missing.

A check showed the wooden top of the cistern had been pushed away and Cavanaugh saw his daughter's blonde hair sinking into the water. He dove in nearly to the bottom and friends helped him bring her out.

Cavanaugh was badly shaken by the experience. Joann suffered no apparently serious ill effects.

Says General Lee Fought His Worst Battle At Gettysburg

corps of two divisions (Pickett was still back at Chambersburg) attacked on the Emmitsburg Road and after a bloody battle overran the Peach Orchard, which was the key to Sickles' position and finally, in the late afternoon, Sickles' Corps, its effectiveness and strength virtually destroyed, streamed back to the protection of Cemetery Ridge, while Sykes' Fifth Corps, aided by Hancock's Second Corps, covered the withdrawal. It was during that afternoon that General Warren saved the day by personally discovering that Little Round Top was unoccupied, whereupon he pulled a brigade of Sykes' Corps out of its line of march to help Sickles and held Little Round Top just in the nick of time.

In the meanwhile, Johnson's Division of Ewell's Corps had arrived and that corps commander belatedly and ineffectively sent Rodes and Early into a disjointed attack against Culp's Hill. Slocum's Twelfth Corps was on the job and brought the Confederate efforts to naught, although when darkness fell on the second night, part of Johnson's Division had occupied a portion of the Federal line and, had they only known it in the darkness, were within a stone's throw in rear of the nerve center of Meade's line east of Cemetery Ridge.

Situation On Third Day
The third day dawned with the situation as follows:
Meade was holding firmly on his position. He had a 500-kilowatt station which has become a showplace since it began operating in June 1954. It feeds Moscow a minute part of its electrical supply.

110 Countians Reported Lost On Army Files: The War Department announced today that 110 men who served in the Army and who gave Adams county as their home address lost their lives during the war. The Navy department has not released its casualty list which would also include the Marine Corps.

Army of the Potomac, in battle after battle, had apparently convinced him that the Confederates were invincible. It was his habit to issue general instructions to his corps commanders and then let them fight the battle. He himself rarely intervened. But this time there was no Stonewall Jackson to take the bit in his teeth. Hill was not well. Ewell failed to measure up to Jackson's stature, and Longstreet, who disagreed with Lee's conception of both a strategic and tactical offensive, tried to persuade the commanding general that the way to win the battle of Gettysburg was to let him, Longstreet, move around Meade's left flank south of Round Top, threaten his rear, and cause Meade to attack Lee's Army in a position of their own choosing.

Lee declined to accept Longstreet's viewpoint, and the latter not only sulked about it, but what was worse, dragged his heels to such an extent that Lee's attack schedule was delayed for many hours on both July 2 and July 3. Lee himself failed to issue clean cut orders or to coordinate the efforts of the three corps and it seems that the principal blame for their defeat can be evenly divided between Lee, Longstreet, and Ewell.

Union Forces Magnificent

Meade on the other hand had unwittingly adopted Longstreet's conception of the tactical offensive and, in building his strength along Cemetery Ridge, he allowed Lee to destroy his army against the hard anvil of the hill and the Round Top.

The Army of the Potomac fought magnificently at Gettysburg and its corps and division commanders led the troops bravely and intelligently. Meade, having the shorter line, maneuvered his troops promptly and superbly and, as it turned out, Gettysburg for the Federal Army became a Fredericksburg in reverse.

Tribe And White Sox Split As Yanks Beat Washington; Braves, Redlegs, Phils Lose

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

How about that crafty Ol' Casey Stengel? He's even got the schedule working for him with the Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians all tangled up in a dog fight just when they finally looked ready to challenge his American League leading New York Yankees.

It was the White Sox who bopped the Yankees four straight last weekend and kept right on rolling to win 11 of 12 games. The Indians, meanwhile, were winning eight in a row.

Last night the two contenders opened a four-game set in Cleveland with a twilight doubleheader and the only winner was Stengel, who was safe in Yankee Stadium watching his guys beat Washington 3-1 with a minimum of effort.

Tribe Streak Ends
Herb Score knocked off the White Sox 5-2 on a three-hitter in the opener, stretching the Tribe's string to nine games. But then Billy Pierce put the Sox right, becoming the first 12-game winner in the majors by striking out 10 and giving the Indians just four hits in a 13-2 romp.

With their fourth straight victory, the Yankees added their lead to three games over the White Sox with the Indians 5½ games back in third.

Fourth place Boston beat Baltimore 7-3 with some nifty relief work by Ike Delock. And Detroit defeated Kansas City 5-0 on Billy Hoef's five-hitter.

Braves Lose Again
In the National, first place Milwaukee lost its third straight 8-4 to the Chicago Cubs, but Cincinnati muffed the chance to take over the lead losing to the St. Louis Cardinals 4-1 as Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell stopped a five-game Redleg winning streak with a four-hitter.

Brooklyn's Duke Snider, Randy Jackson and Gil Hodges socked consecutive ninth-inning homers to move the third place Dodgers within one game of first with a 6-5 victory over Philadelphia. And Pittsburgh scored three unearned runs in the seventh inning to beat last place New York 6-3.

Fifth For Grim
Right-hander Bob Grim won his fifth for the Yankees, allowing only two hits—one Clint Courtney's home run—before straining a tendon while pitching the eighth. Rip Coleman held the Nats hitless. The Yanks had just five hits, but Pete Ramos walked the bases full in the first and Hank Bauer doubled for two runs. Mickey Mantle walked all four times he came to bat.

Jackie Jensen's two-run homer, his 10th, tied the score for Boston in the seventh inning and Billy Goodman and Billy Klaus then doubled and tripled to win it in the eighth.

250th For Snyder
Al Kalie and Charlie Maxwell homered back-to-back for the Tigers in the sixth inning off loser Tom LaSorda. Maxwell also homered with one on in the ninth.

Mizell, who had lost three straight, won his eighth, giving up the Redleg run in the sixth on a walk and Ed Bailey's double. Three runs in the seventh, on two singles, Bobby DeGrec's ground-rule double, an error and a sacrifice fly, won it for the Cards.

Stu Miller had the Brooks checked on four hits till the ninth, when he gave a walk and was tagged for Snider's 17th homer and 250th career shot.

Newsman Banned At Oriole Clubhouse

BALTIMORE (AP)—Manager Paul Richards has banned newsman from the Oriole clubhouse until further notice.

Richards announced the ban last night after the Orioles went down to their second straight ignominious defeat, a 7-6 loss to Boston after leading 6-2 in early innings.

In Cleveland Wednesday, Baltimore led 9-1 in early innings only to blow that lead and lose 12-11 in 11 innings.

After that game, Richards was quoted in the local newspapers telling the team they had played the worst of any team he ever managed.

BAHAMA WINS BY DECISION FROM TURNER

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Yama Bahama, a heavy welter who has been mixing with middleweights, would like to dip back to his own weight level for a match with Carmen Basilio, Tony DeMarco, Chico Vejar or Art Aragon after winning his 33rd straight.

Bahama, a speedy boxer from the Isle of Bimini in the Bahamas, slid past experienced Gil Turner of Philadelphia last night to win a unanimous decision in 10 rounds at Madison Square Garden.

Bahama won the votes of both judges, Nick Gamboli and Joe Epply 7-2-1 and referee Barney Felix 5-1-1. The AP card had it 8-2 for Yama.

Bahama probably has an imposing board of directors as any fighter since Beau Jack, Bobby Melnick is his manager and nobody else has any financial interest. But George Lyon, Sr. and Jr. of a Detroit manufacturing firm, Bernard Gimbel and other money men are rooting in his corner.

"We're not ready to talk about any of the ranking, middleweights," said Melnick. "We're in no hurry. I'd like to get Basilio at 150 pounds, DeMarco, Vejar or Aragon. This fellow (Turner) pushed him around a little. He's an experienced guy."

$80,000 Bonus Hurler Is Sent To Minors

BALTIMORE (AP)—Frank Baumann, who got an $80,000 bonus when he was signed by the Boston Red Sox in 1952, has been sent to the minors.

The left-handed hurler, who has won two games and lost one this season, was optioned yesterday to the Red Sox' Albany, N.Y., farm club in the Class A Eastern League.

Signed in 1952 before the bonus rule was written, Baumann was sent to Louisville in the American Assn. where he had a 4-6 record. In 1953, he won 10 of 11 starts for Louisville before entering service in midseason. After leaving service and joining the Red Sox last season, he was 2-1 with a sore arm and had a 2-1 record.

Bass Season Will Open 1 A.M. Sunday

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania's four-month bass season opens tomorrow.

The 1956 season will open at 1 a.m. with largemouth and smallmouth bass, northern pike, muskellunge and muskellunge legal fish.

A recent change in rules will permit fishermen to keep in their possession two days' limit after the second day of the season. In the past the possession limit was the same as the daily creek limit.

The legal sizes:

Bass, large and small mouth—not less than nine inches, six per day combined species; pickerel—not less than 15 inches, 6 per day; muskellunge—not less than 24 inches, 2 per day; northern pike—not less than 16 inches, 4 per day.

The possession limit on fish bait and bait fish remains at 35 of each, 50 combined.

MARILYN AND MILLER MARRY IN WHITE PLAINS

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—Marilyn Monroe and Pulitzer Prize playwright Arthur Miller were married quietly at City Hall here last night.

After City Judge Seymour Robinson read the vows and Miller placed what apparently was a borrowed ring on his bride's finger, the couple sped off to "Paris unknown" for their honeymoon.

The simple single ring ceremony was witnessed by Miller's cousins, Morton A. and Florence J. Miller.

Saw Fatal Crash

Only a few hours before, the buxom movie queen appeared shaken after witnessing an automobile crash that killed Princess Mara Sherbatoff, 48, New York bureau chief for Paris Match, a French magazine.

Miss Sherbatoff was hurled through the windshield of a car that went out of control and struck a tree while following the couple down a winding country road near Miller's farmhouse at Roxbury, Conn.

At the sound of the crash, the noted couple stopped their car and ran to the wreckage. Miller carried Miss Sherbatoff, bleeding profusely from a severed neck artery, to the side of the road, and helped remove Ira Slade, 18, driver of the car, from the front seat.

Miller Called Ambulance

The couple then dashed to Miller's place to summon an ambulance.

The accident seemed to heighten Miller's determination to avoid news coverage of the wedding.

"I'm not going to tell you where or when we are going to get married," he said moodily. "If the press do not leave me alone, we will leave here for parts unknown."

And, a short time later, they did just that.

The couple apparently did not know that the woman correspondent had died on an operating table when they gave reporters the slip once more and drove 25 miles across the state line for the White Plains wedding.

Sweater And Skirt

Miller's attorney, Sam Slavitt of White Plains, already had obtained a waiver of New York State's required three-day waiting period from State Supreme Court Justice Frank Coine.

Marilyn was wed in a sweater and skirt combination topped off by a cardigan sweater.

Miller, tieless in a blue linen suit, slipped the ring on her finger and muttered that it would have to be changed later, an indication that the traditional "something borrowed" had been fulfilled.

Expect Nashua To Win Carter Feature

NEW YORK (AP)—This being the end of the month, the Nashua syndicate hoped it would be payday and the husky Mr. Millions could help out on the investment by winning the $50,000-added Carter Handicap at Belmont Park.

Carrying top weight of 130 pounds, Nashua meets 10 shaply sprint rivals, conceding from 10 to 22 pounds. Since the race originated in 1895, only six horses have succeeded with 130 or more pounds—the great Tom Fool winning with 135 in 1933.

Heading the opposition in the race to be televised and broadcast (CBS) at approximately 3:45 p.m., (EST) are the Maine Chance Farm's Jet Action, 120, and Alfred Vanderbilt's Find and Gerard Colletta's Switch On, both with 119.

With 11 starting the race would gross $57,500, with $39,400 to the winner.

The antique cup which each year goes to the owner of the horse winning Delaware Park's $50,000 Oaks was made in England in 1829.

The win for the Yanks dropped the Rotary into a first place tie with the on-coming Moose.

Clabaugh, a hard-working little catcher, belted two solid home runs over the left field fence to become the first Garageman to conquer the long fence. Clabaugh's round tripers came in the first and the sixth innings, both times with a pair of mates aboard. The final blow was the one that clinched the game for the winners.

Johnson Socks Sixth

Carl Johnson also kept his streak of consecutive games producing home runs when he belted his sixth homer over the left field wall. This is the fifth consecutive game in which Johnson has connected for a four bagger. His wallop came in the final frame with two men on base.

Jimmy McCleaff, who turned in a fine performance on the mound, receives the win, his second in four starts, while Ted McPherson dropped his second straight loss to the Yanks. McPherson is 3-2 for the season.

Mrs. Roy D. Tate, 2 Daughters, Biglerville R. 2, Are Active In 4-H Projects In County

Mrs. Roy D. Tate, Biglerville R. 2, says there is nothing like 4-H work, and she has probably had more experience than anyone else in the county to sustain her opinion.

For nine years she has been a local leader for the Arendtsville Home Economics 4-H club. She has two daughters who have been members of 4-H for a total of 17 years, and Mrs. Tate, when a girl of ten, became a 4-H member in her home state of West Virginia. Thus the Tate family is one of the "Two generation 4-H families" in the county.

The family was chosen by the county extension office for this week's story on 4-H activities of the county.

While Mrs. Tate and her two older daughters are the only members of the Tate family in 4-H at the present time, the Tates will be active in the organization for a long time to come. Robert, who will be ten next year, is anxious to get started in 4-H projects. Judy, aged seven, will start in 4-H within another few years, and about the time those two are far advanced in 4-H, little Nina, aged three, is expected to start out in 4-H.

Attends College
Nancy Lee Tate, now 18, and a sophomore at Pennsylvania State University next fall, has been a member of the Arendtsville 4-H home economics club for nine years. Now away much of the year at school she has dropped active participation in the Arendtsville Club, but remains an active member of the Adams County 4-H Council.

A graduate of Biglerville High School, she was named as the county's Peach Dessert Queen last August, and has served as the Adams County Apple Blossom Time Queen two years. She is now studying home economics at Penn State preparatory to becoming a teacher of home economics.

Club Member 8 Years
While in high school she played clarinet in the high school band, sang in the acappella choir, and served as its secretary; was a member of the staff of the B-H Times, the school publication, and was vice president of the Tri-Hi-Y club among other activities.

Nancy Tate, a veteran of nine years of 4-H work, is shown engaged in a sewing project at her home near Arendtsville. Her mother, Mrs. Roy Tate, local leader of the Arendtsville 4-H Home Economics Club and sister, Joan, also a member of the Arendtsville club, look on.

Joan Elizabeth Tate, 17, a senior at Biglerville High School, is as active as her elder sister. This year marks her eighth as a member of the Arendtsville club. During the years the two girls, and their mother as local leader, along with the other members of the club took up such projects as sewing, teas, buffets, snacks, and "learn-by-doing." This year the club is again on a sewing project and the Tate house is filled with cloth and patterns and the electric sewing machine is busy at all hours when the girls are not busy with helping keep house, cooking and aiding in such work as peach thinning — a chore they were engaged in at the time of the reporter's visit.

Joan is song leader of the Arendtsville club this year, after having in prior years served as its president, news reporter and treasurer.

Active In School

At Biglerville High School Joan, who is taking the academic course, is a member of the band, a capella choir, B-H Times, student council and the dance band. She has served as president of the band, secretary of the student council and is feature reporter for the school newspaper.

She plays the baritone and tenor saxophones in the band, and explains it this way: "Nancy and I both started on the clarinet, but they needed a tenor sax player and asked if I'd try it. So I've been playing the sax ever since."

In addition to her other duties Joan also is vice president of the Adams county 4-H Council, and also has another project of her own this year — she's raising guinea fowls. Her younger brother made out well financially with guinea fowls, and Joan is hopeful that she will have as profitable a year with her pen.

Mother Raised Chickens

The activities of the youngsters with their guinea interests Mrs. Tate, who says her first experience in 4-H when a girl was raising chickens. She had so much fun attending 4-H camp and activities in West Virginia, she says, that she determined that her children should have the fun, too, when they reached the age for membership.

Not one to lend only philosophic support, she has headed an 18-girl club each year for the last nine years and also serves on the

Plan Decor To Fit Interests Of Young, Old

Before redecorating a home, decide on the qualities in floor covering which are the most important and best for the individual activities of every family member, advises the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information.

If there are small children, teenagers, or pets in the home, easy upkeep naturally is an outstanding requirement. For an entrance hall, stairway or other highway of continuous family traffic, long wear is another important consideration. Non-skid underfoot safety for everyone from elderly family members to babies and visitors is a "must" of course.

Color and beauty that will last are the next qualities to be considered, together with getting full value for the family's investment, especially if they must keep an eye on the budget while they shop.

The flooring which rates highest on all these scores of easy care, long wear, and safe, luxurious underfoot beauty at a cost every family can afford is resilient asphalt tile, such as Kentele. This flooring is available in a wide range of high fashion colors, and its gleaming non-porous surface is kept shining with a minimum of care.

Consider How A Room Is Used

Generally speaking, medium colors that feature a delicate marbelization won't show soil as quickly as plain light or dark flooring. So in choosing the right floor tile for each room in the home, a family should consider how each room will be used.

If dust, lint or spilled milk are the problems, as in small children's bedrooms which double as play areas during the daytime, a marbelized warm tan asphalt tile such as Luma Chelle, with crisp veinings of orange, brown and white, or cheerful, exciting red Harlequin-Carnival tile mottled in a rainbow of hues, is kept clean with a whisk of a damp cloth.

Where housekeeping includes coping with mud tracked in from the garden or street by small feet and lively pets, use a darker background shade of flooring, such as Verde Antique, a black background asphalt tile marbelized in cheerful green, gray and white, or Mardi Gras Carnival, a dynamic red-brown tile, with gay multi-colored mottling.

For that look of richness and elegance traditionally associated with luxury and prestige, the inviting warmth and elegance of Corkone tile may be selected for the living room area, as well as for bedroom floors. It can be installed in checkerboard style of alternating light and dark natural random cork shades, in random square and oblong pattern shading from soft beige to deep tones, or in an uninterrupted sweep of one single natural cork color.

TO THE RESCUE!

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Police said a man who almost succeeded in rescuing his brother from the paddy wagon was carrying family loyalty too far. He was thrown in jail too.

Adams County Agricultural Extension Association executive committee.

Roy Tate, meantime, doesn't let the "women folks" of his family get all the credit for farm-connected activities. Besides being a poultry raiser and fruit grower, he is also active in the county poultry federation, fruit growers association, and the county farmers association and grange.

The Tate family enjoys farming. It is willing to share its joy with others. In the last two years the Tates have been host to foreign farm youths here under the International Farm Youth Exchange program. Last year they entertained one from India, this year one from Pakistan.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
The Associated Press

Septic tanks are causing a lot of trouble for many homeowners who have bought or built houses beyond the reach of municipal sewer lines. An engineer for the U. S. Public Health Service recently stated that many new subdivisions "are going to be nothing but slums in a few years" because of improper septic tank installations.

Last winter in Milwaukee, a roving editor for House & Home, trade publication for the building industry, took photographs of ditches half-full of frozen sewage from septic tank vent pipes. The ditches were in a new community of 15,000 to 20,000 houses. "The homeowners," he reported, "in order to prevent sewage from backing up into their homes, had thoughtfully punched holes in the vent pipes."

Near Philadelphia, soap suds have appeared in suburban creek waters far from the points where the suds went underground.

The chief sanitary engineer for the Federal Housing Administration tells of having been assured by local FHA men that they had no septic tank troubles, yet when he toured new subdivisions he found many "tell-tale odors."

One official report sums up the problem: "Unless solutions are applied immediately to the sewage problem, the health of the people will be threatened."

Rules Indefinite

Home building has been expanding faster into outlying areas than reliable experience with septic tanks could be boiled down into hard and fast rules. In most rural locations there are no zoning and sanitary regulations. In places where such laws exist, enforcement has lagged. One planning commissioner attributes the laxity to pressures from all interests connected with home building, as well as to the stampede of new home buyers.

Writing in the official bulletin of the Urban Land Institute, this commissioner says that around his Midwestern city "we have over 8,000 acres of septic tank subdivisions. It has been estimated that it will cost $2,000 per acre, or 16 million dollars, to correct the inevitable bad sanitary conditions. If we continue our present he hopes it won't be permanent.

in 25 years we will have 45,000 acres of septic tanks which to remedy will cost 90 million dollars. Moreover, this may be only a third of the cost, for the homeowners will have to pay a second time for the reconstruction of the roadways and their accessories, the cost of which will be assessed against their properties."

As an answer to sanitary waste disposal, the septic tank "is only a patent medicine cure-all," says this observer. He contends that the minimum lot size for the use of a septic tank should be at least one acre.

Work Improperly

Less than half of all the septic tanks in five Midwestern states are working properly, says Daniel Evans, regional engineer for the U. S. Public Health Service. Reporting on his findings in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin, he says:

"Where you have no supervisory control over the installation, I doubt if you will find 50 per cent of them operating satisfactorily."

It seems that Mother Earth can only drink up a certain amount. The first new homes erected in an area may actually use neighboring lots for absorption. "Their septic tanks," says one analysis, "may serve well for 10 to 15 years. But when others come in, the soil gets overloaded. In the first 18 months of septic tank operation in some areas, there is a big reduction in soil absorption capacity, so a new home buyer may get a horrifying surprise after one, two or three years."

Incidentally, the combination of septic tank fields with the use of washing machines and dishwashers has been killing trees in some places. Tree men blame this on detergents, which kill natural bacteria.

TAIL WITH A KINK

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Grace Kirkwood's Pekinese caught its tail in the drive shaft of her washing machine. Firemen found the tail wrapped round-and-round the mechanism. They emptied the washer, turned it upside down and turned the shaft in reverse, by hand, and slowly the tail was unwrapped. Mrs. Kirkwood says her pet's tail has a kink in it, but she hopes it won't be permanent.

Dogs Help To Acquit Salesman In South

BEAUFORT, S.C., June 29 (AP) — Two 60-pound hunting dogs were introduced in evidence Thursday to win acquittal for a 35-year-old auto salesman on trial here in the death of a Marine sergeant from York, Pa.

Judge J. M. Brailsford told the circuit court jury there was "unresolved doubt" as to what had happened when Bill Boyd of Beaufort and M. Sgt. William Schweitzer of York set out in a square-sterned canoe to hunt on the Gomahbee River March 22.

A witness, N. R. Ruoff, said a few minutes after the men set out he heard cries and ran to the water's edge to see the boat overturned and Boyd in the water. Ruoff, a caretaker at the Green Point plantation, said he had lent the men the boat and a rifle.

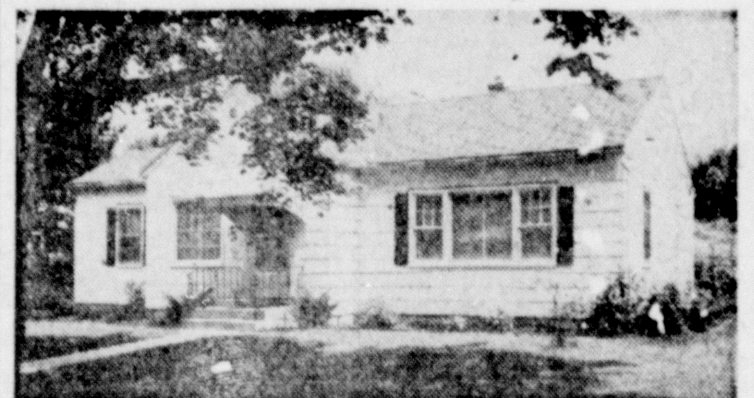

When Schweitzer's body was recovered it had a shotgun wound in the chest.

In presenting the dogs, the defense contended they posed a danger to the stability of the canoe.

Big capacity grain-saving starts right at the cylinder in a Massey-Harris ... never lets up 'til all your grain is in the tank.

County Agent Recommends Use Of 2,4-D On Weeds In Late Planted Corn Fields

By FRANK S. ZETTEL

Adams County Farm Agent

Adams County has experienced an abnormal spring this year as we all know. The corn crop was planted late, and then the cold weather held back its growth, and now we see much weedy corn throughout the county. This is one year when weedy corn with 2,4-D will definitely pay on most farms. Spraying with 2,4-D will control most of the broad leaf weed in corn.

Many people are under the impression that 2,4-D will injure corn if applied in the proper amount. 2,4-D will not kill corn or slow down its growth. However it will affect corn in several ways. Applied at this time, 2,4-D will cause the brace roots to grow abnormally. This will not affect the growth of the plant itself in any way. 2,4-D also causes the corn plant to become brittle for several days and some could break off if we have a bad wind storm a few days after the field is sprayed. This condition is only temporary.

There are two forms of 2,4-D that can be used, but for safety's sake the amine form is recommended. The amine form of 2,4-D is safer since fumes will not drift from a sprayed field as will the ester form, to injure tomatoes or other crops. However, you must still exercise care in spraying and make sure that spray droplets don't blow on to crops planted next to corn.

Pint Per Acre

A weed sprayer should be calibrated so you know exactly how much spray you are applying per acre. For best results, you should be applying 5 to 10 gallons of spray per acre at 30 pounds pressure. The spray material should be so mixed that you are applying a pint of 2,4-D amine per acre.

Once the field is sprayed, it should not be cultivated for 10 days or two weeks since the chemical will kill weeds over that length of time. You should try to spray corn before it is much over 12 inches tall.

Powdery Mildew On Roses

Powdery mildew, a common disease of roses, has appeared in serious and destructive proportions on roses in some gardens. Blossom buds and leaves are covered with a white powdery mass of the mildew fungus. The affected buds will be blighted and leaves become distorted.

Organic fungicides, such as captan, ferbam or zineb, which are effective for the control of black spot on roses, are not effective for powdery mildew. To prevent the spread of powdery mildew on roses add 2 level tablespoons of wettable sulfur per gallon to the ferbam, captan or zineb sprays.

Commercial growers can get effective mildew control by adding karathane or mildelex at 4 ounces per 100 gallons, or omazeone 50 per cent W.P. at 8 to 12 ounces per 100 gallons of spray.

Circular 347 on Diseases and Insects of The Home Garden, or Circular 423 on Diseases of Commercial Florists Crops is available at our office.

When you put turkey poulters under der your brooder stove on ordinary litter . . . they generally have to learn which is the feed and which is the litter, by trial and error. Therefore, if you cover the litter for several days with cloth, your poulters cannot eat the litter, and if the feed is the only material they can find to swallow, the poulters get the right ingredients. Burlap or cotton cloth bag materials are well suited to cover the litter.

Smooth-surfaced materials like paper give poor footing, the poulters legs slip out sideways, and they may end up having spraddled legs.

Some chicken growers find they can use clover chaff for chick litter and they don't have to cover it, because the chicks normally will eat only limited amounts of clover leaves. However, turkey poulters are gluttons for legume leaves, and often eat too many leaves and not enough starter mash.

So it's usually better for you not to use hay chaff for turkey poulters until they are from six to seven weeks of age because there is a tendency for poulters to eat too many hay leaves, and not enough starter mash during the early period of life.

After your poulters are seven weeks old, they can make use of more bulk and hay chaff and cut hay can make a good litter, and also furnish some feed for them.

"The Dean Farms": Distinctive, Well Planned

'Dean Farms' Is Average Family's Ideal

Offered today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, "The Dean Farms" is a distinctive one-story house that is carefully planned to fit the needs of the average modern family.

The house proper measures 46 by 28 feet; overall measurements, including the breezeway and attached garage, are 69 by 28 feet. Cubage of the house is 29,900 feet; garage cubage is 3,100 feet. You'll need at least a 90-foot lot on which to build the house and attached garage.

Just about any exterior finish would be appropriate for a house of this type. A combination finish is suggested in the accompanying illustration and such a finish blends perfectly with the style of the house. Simple landscaping is recommended.

Good-Sized Rooms

All five rooms in this house are of ample size; each is well lighted and well planned. The front door opens on an entry hall leading to the living room and den; a central hall connects these rooms with the rest of the house.

In the kitchen proper all appliances, work counters, cabinets, etc., are placed within easy reaching distance to make kitchen tasks as easy as possible. A good-sized breakfast nook is located in the left part of the kitchen. To the right of the main kitchen is an area of comfortable size that you can use as either a dining room or a utility room.

Two Regular Bedrooms

Should you prefer to have your laundry on the first floor and therefore decide to use this optional area for this purpose you can very easily use the living room as a combination living and dining room. If you want to have your laundry equipment installed in the kitchen or bath, place it under the kitchen or bath.

There are two regular bedrooms in this house as well as a third room which can be used with equal ease as a bedroom, guest room or den. All of the bedrooms are very well lighted and ventilated; each has excellent closet storage space.

An all modern bath is located cated almost directly in the center of the house where it is convenient to all of the rooms.

Your heating plant must be installed in the basement of this house; it should be placed under the living room.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans for this home are available; 1 set—$12.75, 2 sets—$19.35, 3 sets—$25.80. Address requests (mentioning name of home) to Home of the Week, Inc., Dept. —, 87 Weybosset St., Providence, R. I. Send check or money order or plans will be sent C.O.D. A complete home owner's kit and contractor's kit will be included at no extra cost.

Don't Overwax Floors — It's A Safety Hazard

Homemakers should not overwax their floors. Overwaxed, slippery floors increase the chance of accidental falls, which now rank as the leading cause of home fatalities and serious injuries, says the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information.

Accidents in the home disable 5,000,000 Americans yearly, according to the most recent figures. Family bills for medical attention, nurses, prescriptions and loss of time from work total more than $1,000,000,000 annually, without including hospital expenses and incidental costs.

A floor should be waxed only after it has been thoroughly cleaned of all old wax and is dry. A liquid water base wax that is self-polishing is less likely to be slippery than heavier waxes.

Resilient tile floors, such as Kentile asphalt tile, have a gleaming surface sheen that is slip-proof and lasting, despite the hardest wear. An occasional light mopping with mild soap suds, followed by a clear water rinse, maintains the shine indefinitely, and waxing is needed only two or three times a year.

Men Have More Falls

Fatal accidents in and about the home are considerably more frequent among men than among women from 15 years through 64 years, even though the men are generally not around the house a large part of the day. During the five years from 1950 through 1954, the home accident rate among men averaged from one and three-quarters to more than twice that for women.

The higher mortality among men from accidental falls cannot be explained by the recent growth of do-it-yourself and fix-it-yourself activities. These were a minor item in the excess mortality among men caused by accidental falls in and about the home, and were a smaller factor than falls on stairs and steps.

The U. S. Bureau of Standards has made extensive tests to determine the safest type of flooring for use in American homes. These tests definitely proved that asphalt tile like Kentile is safer to walk on than any other smooth-surfaced resilient material, and possesses the most anti-slip factors of any flooring material installed in homes.

Queen And Prince Ask Probe Of Story

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard asked the Dutch government Friday to investigate the circumstances which led to publication of stories in the foreign press concerning their "family life and relations."

A royal communique said the press reports "have disappointed and hurt both of us."

The royal couple asked that a three-man commission be appointed to conduct the investigation.

The commission was expected to check into widespread reports of difficulties over the influence at court of 61-year old faith healer Greet Hofmans.

Queen Juliana first came in contact with Miss Hofmans eight years ago when the faith healer attempted to treat Princess Maria Christina, nearly blind fourth daughter of Juliana and Bernhard.

Powdery mildew is abundant in all Eastern apple areas. If you have been using a powdery mildew fungicide you should maintain a control program through the cover sprays. If you have not yet sprayed for mildew you should start now!

Powdery mildew can still cause trouble by:

1. Infecting buds for next year's carryover.
2. Destroying leaf surface.
3. Reducing size and quality of the crop.

KARATHANE is the preferred powdery mildew fungicide for summer use. It is the safest fungicide available for this use and is recommended in your spray schedules.

When used as directed KARATHANE helps the tree produce healthy, dark green foliage and fruit free of scorch and russetting. KARATHANE will not reduce fruit set, size or yield. Trees protected with KARATHANE have considerably less carryover mildew in next year's buds. Of importance too is the ability of KARATHANE to suppress or control mite populations.

Ask your dealer for KARATHANE. Apply it in the late cover sprays to within three weeks of harvest.

RHOTHANE FOR SECOND BROOD

One or two sprays of RHOTHANE (TDE) can help rid your orchard of the second brood of red-banded leaf roller. Just add it to late cover sprays with TRITON 8-1956 for better coverage.

SAYS U. S. CAN FINANCE FREE STATE ROADS

HARRISBURG (AP)—A U. S. Bureau of Highways official said Friday the government could finance construction of free highways on Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission plans under the new federal road program.

"If the state elects to utilize toll road plans for free highway construction it would be all right," declared John Stinson, U. S. district engineer for Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania has been authorized to receive $341,300,000 in federal highway construction aid during the next three years. The sum is the commonwealth's share of the nationwide $6,550,000,000 road program which Congress authorized this week to start a 13-year road building project.

If the state elected to use turnpike commission plans, the state Highways Department would construct the roads not the commission, Stinson indicated.

Pikes Are Eligible
"Turnpike plans would have to be worked over to meet the terms of a free highway under the program," Stinson said. "But the proposed turnpikes would certainly be eligible."

Only one turnpike extension, under construction or completed, has currently reached the financing stage. That is the Erie extension. However, financing has been held up by the commission because of unfavorable conditions on the nation's bond market.

The commission finances its construction by sale of bonds which are amortized through toll collections.

Stinson said that in the case of the Erie extension about the only modification to the present plans for the road would be elimination of toll collection points "and perhaps more provision for access to Erie" to make it eligible for federal aid and state Highways Department construction.

Extension Progresses
The commission reported, meanwhile, that design of the Erie extension has progressed "right up to the minute."

Though other extensions in western and central Pennsylvania have been authorized by the Legislature, none has gotten through the preliminary survey stage.

If the state elected to take over turnpike commission plans for construction of free highways, it could well mean a termination of construction by the commission which built the 360-mile east-west state toll highway and currently has under construction a 110-mile northeastern extension from near Philadelphia to Scranton.

Under the federal highway aid program funds for interstate roads would be provided at the rate of $90 from the U. S. for every $10 put up by the state. The turnpike extensions would qualify as interstate roads, Stinson said.

Matching Funds
In the case of inside-the-state primary and secondary roads the government would provide funds on a 50-50 matching basis. Pennsylvania has 1,350 miles of

BLAME PARENTS FOR MISDEEDS OF CHILDREN

WASHINGTON (AP)—School-teachers replying to a nationwide survey let fly at parents Friday as mostly to blame for a list of student misdeeds ranging from drinking to profanity, cheating and impudence.

The teachers, quizzed by the National Education Assn., said they believed student drinking had "definitely increased" in the past 10 years, along with classroom insolence and failure to carry out assignments.

Almost all of them, however, made it clear they think most American children are all right. A trifle over 5 per cent said their students this past year were "often" or "almost always" difficult to handle. The rest said they were either "exceptionally" or "reasonably" well behaved.

More than 90 per cent said conditions are not so bad as portrayed by press, movies and radio.

Cites 17 Reasons
It was when they came to reasons for such misbehavior as they found that the teachers tore into parents.

Among 17 reasons which the NEA asked them to rank in importance, the largest percentages gave first place to these three: irresponsible parents, unsatisfactory home conditions (low income, broken families, etc.) and lack of supervision because mother working.

Much smaller percentages blamed television and movies, automobiles, undesirable hangouts near school and lack of teacher authority to punish offenders.

More important than any of these, in the teachers' opinion, were lack of special classes for retarded children and overcrowding of schoolrooms in general. Replies indicated that misbehavior is likely to double when a class goes from 30 to 40.

SAYS U. S. AIMS TO DETER WAR

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson cautioned critical senators Friday against insisting upon "excessive" U. S. military strength.

"Our objective is to deter war by every honorable means. It is not our objective to overarm or to give any country cause for alarm," he said.

Of this country's military strength now and for the future, Wilson said it is "a dynamic military power of true substance."

"We do not need or wish to flaunt it before the world," he added, "but it would be a serious disservice to our country and the morale of the free world to belittle it."

Wilson prepared his testimony for a public hearing by the Senate Armed Services subcommittee which has been looking into the relative strength of U. S. and Russian air power.

Burglars Get $6,000 Loot From Actress

NEW YORK (AP)—Burglars took two mink stoles and a pair of earrings valued at a total of $6,000 from the apartment of actress Denise Darcel and her sister, Helen, a singer, police reported Friday.

Helen told police she left the apartment at 10 Thursday night and returned at 5 a.m. to find the door open and the place ransacked.

Denise is expected back here from Valley Forge, Pa., where she is appearing in a summer theater play. Her sister is appearing in a Greenwich Village night club.

BARGE BLOWS UP IN FRISCO; NO FATALITIES

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An oil barge blew up Thursday night, hurling two crewmen into the water and spreading a fierce fire along a pier.

Two fire boats and dozens of fire department pieces quickly controlled the dangerous blaze on the San Francisco waterfront at Mariposa Street.

"It blew up in three quick blasts," said John de Haan, 49, crewman on the Navy oiler Kern, anchored nearby.

He said the Tidewater Associated Oil Co. barge was unloading fuel oil.

"A man was blown off the barge by the blast, and I pulled him out of the water," he said. He was Alfred Johnson.

Stewart Ford, ambulance attendant, said Johnson was taken to San Francisco Hospital with first, second and third degree burns on the face.

Fred Witter, 50, also pulled from the water, was taken to the hospital with severe burns.

Fire Chief Frank Kelly estimated over-all damage at a million dollars.

The blast shot flames 400 feet into the air and the fire lashed through windows of the Triple A Machine Shop on the shore end of the pier.

About 75 men working on the machine shop's night shift fled safely.

"I heard it like thunder—boom!" said Rubin Martinez, 30, sheet metal foreman. "We saw flames coming through the windows, and we ran out."

Two Navy ammunition ships moored nearby were moved while firemen fought the blaze.

extra billion dollars which the Senate voted this week to provide more funds for the Air Force than the Eisenhower administration had requested.

Nor did he take any note of the storm that arose after he used the word "phony" in talking of the increase. But he said in his 3,400-word prepared testimony.

"We deplore efforts to belittle the capacity and resolve of this government to be prepared to meet any recognized threat."

Wilson came to the meeting under instructions from the President to "lay it on the line" in discussing the military budget.

OK SOBELOFF'S NOMINATION AS APPEAL JUDGE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee Friday overrode Southern opposition and approved President Eisenhower's long-stalled nomination of Solicitor General Simon E. Sobeloff's to be a judge of the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals.

However, the committee agreed not to report the nomination to the Senate for at least a week.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-S.C.) said he and other opponents would wage a "prolonged" fight against confirmation.

The vote was announced as 8-2 in the Judiciary Committee, with one member, Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), voting present. The other four members of the committee are to be given a chance to be recorded during the day.

Opposition Votes
Although it was not officially disclosed, the two opposition votes were reported cast by Johnston and Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), the committee chairman.

Reported as voting for approval of the nomination, submitted by President Eisenhower almost a year ago, were:

Sens. Butler (R-Md.), Dirksen (R-Ill.), Watkins (R-Utah), Lang-er (R-Ind.), Kefauver (D-Tenn.), Hennings (D-Mo.), O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) and Neely (D-WVa.). Neely voted by telegram.

The committee agreed that the nomination would not be reported to the Senate for action before next Thursday. Both supporters and opponents of the nomination will be given an opportunity to file separate reports.

The 4th Circuit Court to which Sobeloff was nominated embraces North and South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, and Maryland.

His nomination became entangled in the Supreme Court's unanimous 1954 decision outlawing racial segregation in the public schools. The nomination ran into determined opposition from Southern senators.

Sobeloff did not participate in that case. But as solicitor general he was active a year later in court arguments over how the decision should be carried out. He has said he advocated a moderate course.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A Glenn Brown, 65, deputy manager of the American Bankers Assn., former president of the Indiana Bankers Assn., the Federal Land Bank of Louisville and the Ohio Citizens Trust Co. of Toledo, died Thursday.

GASOLINE AND OTHER TAXES TO GO ON SUNDAY

By WILLIAM O. VARN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Taxes on gasoline and other items for highway users go up tonight at midnight to help finance an immediate start on the nation's biggest road-building program.

Emphasizing speed in getting the 33-billion-dollar program under way, a Federal Bureau of Public Roads official confidently predicted:

"We'll be clearing trees, moving dirt and paying out money within 60 days—and certainly before Oct. 1."

Gas Tax Goes On
The program calls for construction of 41,000 miles of interstate superhighways in the next 13 to 16 years and additional thousands of miles of urban and connecting intrastate roads.

But for the motorist the first noticeable effect will be the tax increase. He will feel it tomorrow in an increase of one cent a gallon in the federal gasoline tax. The same boost applies to diesel fuel for trucks.

The present 5 cents a pound tax on tires goes up to 8 cents; retread rubber will be taxed for the first time at 3 cents a pound; the manufacturer's excise tax on trucks, buses and truck-trailers goes up from 8 to 10 per cent; and truckers must pay $1.50 a year per 1,000 pounds for any truck weighing 26,000 pounds or

Predict 21 Holiday Deaths In 11 Counties

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The safety council of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia predicted Thursday that at least 21 persons in the 11-county tri-state area will lose their lives in accidents during the three-day July 4th weekend.

This year's prediction is made for a five-day period from midnight, Friday June 29, through midnight, Wednesday, July 4. The 11 counties covered by the prediction include Philadelphia, Montgomery, Delaware, Bucks and Chester in Pennsylvania; Mercer, Burlington, Camden, Salem and Gloucester in New Jersey and New Castle in Delaware.

The United States needs about 250,000 new skilled workers every year.

Pay-As-You-Go Plan
These tax increases, effective until 1972, will yield an estimated $14,800,000,000. They will be added to present motor taxes amounting to about 23½ billions for that period to make up a highway trust fund of about 38½ billions for the pay-as-you-go road building program.

The federal government puts up 90 per cent of the cost of the interstate superhighway system, the states 10 per cent. For primary, secondary and urban highways, they continue to split the cost 50-50, but more federal matching money will be available.

Quick Action
Within minutes after President Eisenhower signed the bill yesterday, Secretary of Commerce Weeks announced the allocation of federal funds to the 48 states, District of Columbia and three territories for the first year of the program—fiscal 1957.

These allocations amount to one billion dollars for interstate highway and 125 million for local roads. These will be credited to the states immediately by the Treasury Department. As they let contracts and bills become due, they can let a contract as soon as they get federal approval of the details for each project.

Last year the council accurately predicted that 14 persons in the area would die in traffic accidents during the three-day July 4th weekend.
